

BLOOM RIVERIE

Fajar Lucman

Fajar Lucman

Collection Brief

My design concept explores the intersection of emotional states and sartorial expression, positioning clothing as a medium to embody and transform emotions such as euphoria, anxiety, melancholy, and joy. By utilizing innovative textures, avant-garde forms, and experimental materials, my collection reflects as well as mediates internal landscapes, creating garments that empower wearers to embrace their emotional journeys. Bloom Reverie is a collection that explores the delicate balance between growth and fluidity—where emotions flow like rivers, and garments bloom like petals. Drawing inspiration from the ephemeral beauty of nature, this collection captures moments of emotional release and transformation.
