COLLECTION CONCEPT

This concept revolves around the interplay between obsession, limerence, and reclaiming personal power in the context of romantic relationships. Filled with unmet expectations, fear of rejection, and emotional highs and lows. There is a realisation that this love becomes powerlessness

The first is obsession and infatuation: chaotic, unbalanced, all-consuming. It's about wanting someone so badly you lose grip on yourself. The second is vulnerability and exposure—raw, stripped, on display. This is the crash: the moment you realize love isn't saving you, it's destroying you. The final look is power and control. No more begging, no more waiting. It's the shift from chasing to choosing, from needing to owning. If love weakens, power hardens. This isn't softness. It's the aftermath.
